To spread computational thinking among young people.

For 17 years, the beOI non-profit association (ASBL) has organised the Belgian Olympiad in Informatics: a free contest in logic, algorithms and programming for young people aged 10 to 18. The national contest starts with simple logic and programming exercises, and progresses to the complex tasks of competitive programming. The aim: open computing to as many people as possible, and identify the most motivated talent early.

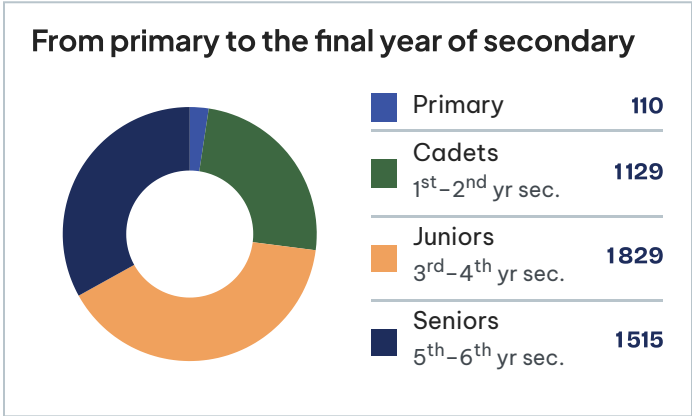

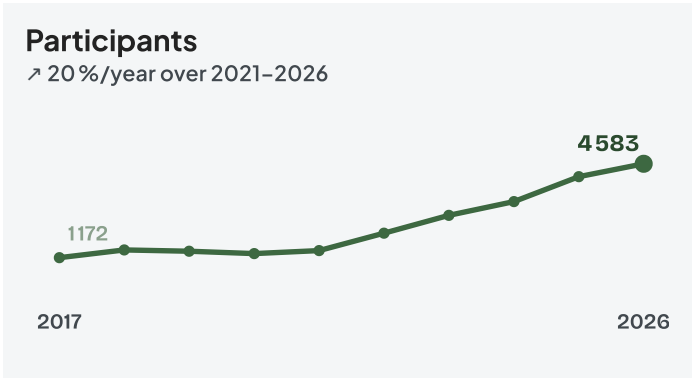

STRUCTURE OF THE NATIONAL CONTEST

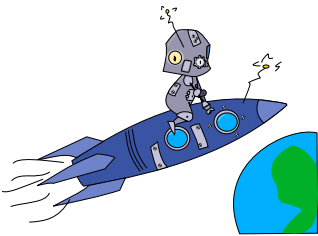

THE 2026 EDITION IN FIGURES (2025-2026)

4500+
participants
From year 3 of primary through to the end of secondary.

Why support beOI.

IMPACT

The future of Belgian computing is being shaped today.

With beOI, thousands of young people learn to program and aim for excellence through logic and algorithms. Your support widens this talent pool, across the country.

EMPLOYER BRANDING

Early contact with young talents.

Pupils in training, finalists, a national team. Your name circulates where the profiles your IT teams will look for in a few years are being shaped.

CREDIBILITY

Alongside 15 universities and university colleges.

Your brand sits alongside Belgian universities and university colleges, and recent international results.

REACH

A growing contest.

More than 4 500 pupils in 2026, more than 100 institutions, four age categories. Visibility that extends across Belgium.

WHAT YOUR CONTRIBUTION SUPPORTS

- Training for participants
- Prizes and goodies for the final
- Contest and training servers
- Organisation costs
- Training camps with other delegations
- Travel to international olympiads

INSTITUTIONAL MEMBERS

A two-tier offer.

The Silver offer ensures national visibility. Gold, limited to two sponsors, strengthens that presence and brings your brand closer to the finalists.
